

CUSTOM COURSE DEVELOPMENT

In many situations, training requirements are unique. KSEC Custom Course Development services can tailor content and approach to your specific requirements.

To simplify the process of identifying training requirements, we will help you identify knowledge gaps, and course content recommendations to enhance skill sets for one individual, a team, or an entire organization.

Custom Course Content

The most successful courses are usually solution-oriented. The concepts of the solution to be defined and explained first, then they must be demonstrated and finally, the trainees need to do exercises to demonstrate comprehension and competence

To simplify the process of identifying training requirements, the KSEC Training Team will help you identify knowledge gaps and recommend the enhanced skill sets required.

Then a detailed course outline will be developed and presented.

Custom Course Development

Courses are custom designed to meet the particular needs of each group.

- Phone interviews are used to assess current needs and expectations
- Subject matter and learning objectives driven by your requirements
- A proposal is prepared that contains a description of course content and development costs.

Learning Environment

Custom courses can be delivered at the location choice – your facilities or ours. KSEC facilities are often chosen to take advantage of the dedicated KSEC training furnaces.
